FOREWORD

Proudly, joyously, progressively, Libbey advances! The achievements of another year lie behind us as we take our leave of the school we have learned to love. Who would dare arrest the fleeting moment? Yet who would wish to forget the least second of it? The joy of reunion last September blended briskly into football thrills, Carnival Festivity, and Yuletide kindness and generosity. Ever-present doughnut sales, gala dances, splash parties, and roller-skating romps quickened the tempo of the year, punctuating with vivid delights the serious but absorbing routine of each day. Echoes of faculty meetings on weighty matters of school evaluation were as frequent as shouts of applause for awards and championships royally won; and the joy of a resplendently attired band and the acquiring of much-needed musical instruments blotted out the recollection of arduous days of salesmanship and money-making projects. No, we shall not forget, for we have gathered our memories here between the covers of the book we love to call The Edelian. As we, the Class of 1941, present this record of our final year at Libbey, it is with the fervent prayer that God may continue to bless this beautiful America of ours, that He may preserve our schools, and that He may guide and protect us in whatever lies ahead!

Can you imagine the delight of being invited to join the faculty of the very school from which you were graduated? Mr. Charles Martin knows the answer to this question for he was a member of Libbey's first graduating class; as Snapshots Editor he helped to publish the first "Edelian," and as a student he established for himself a splendid record in everything he undertook to do. Previous to his senior year in our school, Mr. Martin had attended Raymer School, Woodward Junior High, where he first knew our principal, Mr. Williams, and Woodward Senior High, from which he came to Libbey. He continued his studies at the University of Toledo and began his teaching career in Grand Rapids, Ohio, where he gained experience as both elementary and high school principal. His life at Libbey is a very busy one, for he is Director of Athletics, Financial Adviser of the "Edelian," Director of Activities, and teacher of Business Principles and Business Arithmetic. Yet, arduous though his duties are, he is never too busy to be kind and helpful and sympathetic. Mr. Martin insists that he has no hobbies, but we know that he has delightful interests in his wife and two small daughters and in the activities of his church and his home. Thus it is with sincerity and happiness that the graduates of the Class of 1941 salute their teacher-alumnus of the Class of 1924 and with affectionate respect dedicate to him this "Edelian," hoping that he may enjoy always a continuance of the success that his earnest work and genial personality have won for him at his and our Libbey High School.

DEDICATION

SUPERINTENDENT OF TOLEDO SCHOOLS

To direct the complex machinery of the school system of a city as large as Toledo is to possess initiative, courage, ability, wisdom, tact, discernment, and above all, patience. All of these traits are embodied in the leader of our schools, Mr. Edward L. Bowsher, who by steady and alert planning has guided our schools into an enriched curriculum by which all of us have profited. As seniors, we have been very much aware of the efficacy with which our educational program has been administered. Now as we leave Libbey High School, we wish to pay respectful tribute to our superintendent and express our confidence in him as he zealously strives to improve the progress of our schools and to help perpetuate the ideals and standards of American democracy.

HAROLD E. WILLIAMS

PRINCIPAL OF LIBBEY HIGH SCHOOL

Stimulating us in practical matters and inspiring within us the idealism of his own devotion to the principles of sound Christian living, our principal, Mr. Harold E. Williams, has done much to prepare us, as seniors, to meet our serious obligations in the world. As we leave the school from which we have gained so much, we assure Mr. Williams of our gratitude and hope that he may never falter in his role of efficient administrator, wise and patient adviser, and loyal and trust-worthy friend. Mindful of his precepts, strengthened by his example, we pledge our continued loyalty to Libbey High School and our support in all the activities in which we may be called upon later to participate.

HERE AND THERE

FACULTY

1—Believe it or not, Mr. Williams, principal of Woodward, and Ivan Smith! 2—In the early years of Libbey — Mr. Williams at a Friendship Club Roast. 3—"Thanks for listenin'," concludes his kindly voice. 4—"I must hurry to that meeting," said he three years ago. 5—The poet Edwin Markham poses with Mr. Williams. 6—Harold E. Williams, Youthful Valedictorian! 7—Way up along the Maumee River at a Hi-Y roast. 8—The first football victory over Scott makes a routin', tootin' principal of Libbey. 9—His greatest delight: Freshmen, 1940-41!

THROUGH THE YEARS

May we present the valedictorian of his high school graduating class in Adrian, Michigan, Harold E. Williams, about whom it was written in "The Sickle," the yearbook of Adrian High School: "A gentleman of excellent breeding, admirable discourse, of great admittance, authentic in his place and person, in dignity and for the liberal arts without a parallel. Oh, wise young man! How we do honor thee." And at Libbey High School we have seen the prophecy of this quotation fulfilled in the accomplishments of our principal, Mr. Williams. Throughout the years he has been in Toledo, his interest in the problems of student guidance has never flagged. The story of the numerous cultural opportunities he has made possible for us would be a long one. His enthusiasm in the multitudinous activities of the school engenders in the entire student body a desire to keep Libbey among the foremost schools of Ohio. Prominent in civic affairs, a member of the Kiwanis Club, a much-sought-after speaker, and an honored member of the Masonic Order, in which he has the very high distinction of being a Thirty-third Degree Mason, Mr. Williams is more than generous in the amount of time he gives in participating in community activities. His ability as an executive and his talent as an educator have never kept him aloof from his students and faculty, but he joins us in our recreations, chats with us, and frequently visits us in our homes. Never too busy or weary to share in our enthusiasms or encourage us in moments of worry, Mr. Williams is, in truth, the guiding force of our school. We, too, honor the valedictorian of Adrian High School; we love and revere the principal of Libbey.

SALUTATORY

Today grave problems confront this aging world. Numerous people believe that our rapidly progressing life is the essence of futility. But can man's ingenuity, which has carried him creatively from the near-beast stage to civilized culture, desert him after the developments of our time have been reached? Amid the strife and tumult caused by the industrial revolution in the Victorian Age, a condition very similar to that of today arose. To dispel the fear and bolster the hopes of his contemporaries, the great English poet, Alfred Lord Tennyson, expressed this encouraging thought:

"I held it truth, with him who sings
To one clear harp in divers tones,
That men may rise on stepping-stones
Of their dead selves to higher things."

May we not still cherish this thought today? Is it not possible to create, from the knowledge of previous mistakes, a life free from foreboding problems? Some people speak woefully of humanity's rash manner of existence but have these same people not forgotten the infirmities of time gone by? The devastation of war once more ravages our seldom peaceful earth, but war too has been dealt with successfully many, many times before. All of the pressing problems, prevalent at this time, are but repetition of former days, changed in appearance alone, by the different tempo of earthly existence. The survival of mankind is excellent proof that all surely not everything is created in vain, for God, the power which guides our soul's true path, would not permit His favored creatures to wander aimlessly into oblivion. Though evil bares its ugly fangs, seemingly to devour all, our faith in God will eventually carry us triumphantly through, leaving right the victor; evil the vanquished. The feeling that right will triumph is most ably expressed by the words:

"O yet we trust that somehow good
Will be the final goal of ill."

But who are we, what is our task? Upon the shoulders of rising youth will rest the burdens of tomorrow. To us a challenge is extended, a challenge which must be accepted with all our hearts. Shall we be the pillars of the future, or the pawns of base worldly pleasures? From this night on, our actions will be the answer to this question. The wisdom gleaned throughout adolescence must now be applied to the practical world. An idealistic goal toward which to strive will greatly help in attaining the fulfillment of our challenge. Although this goal may never be reached, nevertheless, it surely will have affected us and our associates in such a manner as to influence us to lead worthwhile lives.

"So runs my dreams, but what am I?
An infant crying in the night,
An infant crying for the light,
And with no language but a cry."

Our debt to those responsible for our rearing and education can never be repaid. Primarily to our parents, through whose love and devotion we have arrived at this turning point in life; to Mr. Williams, whose help in guidance has been invaluable; and to our teachers, we owe the compensation of our success. If not for ourselves, for them, we are duty bound to make our lives worthy of acclamation. Though this ever changing world thrusts forth trying trials and tribulations we must steel our sensibilities and valiantly emerge the victor. Many people believe that all is lost; that the chaste and the sacred are doomed to eternal damnation by the vain folly of infidelity. No more suitable reply to this defeatist philosophy can be quoted than

And God fulfills himself in many ways,
Lest one good custom should corrupt the world."

Words, mere words, some proceed to say, but is it not more comforting to accept an optimistic view of our worldly existence than the despondent views of the resolute cynic?

Last Christmas, the King of England spoke to his people. His heart was torn with the sorrows of a war-stricken people. He said this: "I went out into the world and found it in darkness. I said to a man whom I met, 'Give me a light that my feet may not stumble.' " The man looked up into my face and said, 'Oh King, go forth into the night and fear not. Put your hand in the hand of God and you will need no other light.' " From this evening on, we shall tread the corridors of Libbey High School only in our memories. Let not those ideals taught us there become memories too, but let us make a goal toward which we shall strive, ever conscious of the task that must be completed.

William Mikesell, II,

REGENERATION

I clamber, panting up the mountain side.
My way is barred by fissures, chasms deep
That challenge me; at every faltering step
I slip or lose the path so wildly steep.
A thousand times I fall, and rise again
To sink once more, despairing, by the way,
Cursing within my heart men's frailties
And longing for the dawn which brings the day.

At last with wearied strength and anxious heart
I reach my goal, the mountain's cloud-crowned peak,
Before me lies the guerdon of my dreams.
Where is the peace of soul for which I seek?
It is but empty vanities I've gained,
My noble vision was for me alone.
I glance below, forget the bitter hurt
Of self in troubled earth's despondent moan.

From out my weary soul is torn a cry,
"Dear God, how may my life, with talent fraught,
Aid in war's terror, toil, and poverty?"
And swiftly comes the answer that I sought
Reverberating through eternity.
And now I know my purpose and can speak.
"Thou hast no need of me, O God of strength,
I can best serve Thee, humbly, with the weak."

Patricia Meyer.

VALEDICTORY

We are met to bid farewell. Tonight we are to sever our last connection with Libbey High School. To say that this act is performed dolefully or in a spirit of sadness is to ignore the hopes and aspirations for future years. To consummate our high school careers in spirit of levity would be to forget the multitudinous benevolences of our school.

Our spirit tonight is one of hopefulness for the future and kind regard for the past. As the success of the future is built on the achievements of the past, succeeding years will establish the period of our lives just ended as one of great profit.

It is during this epoch that, to a greater or lesser extent, we have succeeded in establishing ourselves, our ideals and personalities. Psychologists will tell us that great importance is attached to this formative period of our lives. The influences for good and for evil are both present, striving to domineer over the nascent personality. That which is most abundant is ultimately victorious. In our own case we have been fortunate during this period, for the forces of good have been omnipresent during our high school careers. What is evil, of ill repute, has not been of our school. To the faculty and staff of Libbey we therefore express our sincere gratitude for their part in enabling us to be present tonight.

Our entrance into the world, outside the fold of family, has been eagerly awaited for many years. We are tonight on the verge of severing this tie between home and self, for within but a few short years we shall all take these last, severing steps. In this sense the present year symbolizes the disintegration of many family ties, although the family will be bound together throughout future years by the spirit which is the basis of all government. As we face the future, is it possible for us to confront the trials and tribulations that lie therein with a stolid, unyielding hope? Yes, for even today our very actions are determining the course of human events. Knowing, then, that it is possible to conquer the forces of evil by far-sighted and wisely planned actions today, what is there to fear? All human actions are only the products of other actions and reactions so numerous and integrated as to astound the greatest mind. If this is so, is it not possible to establish ideal conditions with perfect controls for the betterment of the human race? I believe so. The present form of government is a step forward along this line. Reasoning man may control his happiness, if he so desires.

All this may be abstract. What it means to convey is that there is no basis for pessimistic anarchy. Anarchy will establish a second great darkening of all that is good in life on the verge of triumph.

Think, students of Libbey,
Think and act;
The triumph of the generations
Will hinge on thee.

James Warwick.

EDELIAN

Maybe a rolling stone can gather no moss, but a roaming "Edelian" staff can gather plenty of material to publish a yearbook long to be proud of. And were those "Edelian" kids proud! Well, they should be. They worked like troopers; and when the New-and-Better-"Edelian" with the Red, White, and Blue Cover was presented at the Senior Banquet, you could just see that "Edelian" Class beam and exchange significant glances. They were probably remembering the work (and the fun) of publishing an "Edelian:" checking names, taking snapshots, writing verses, proof-reading, giving pep-talks to the freshmen—all of the tasks that were so busily performed. However, the class can't take all the credit, for the big share goes to Mr. Williams, our ever-ready counselor; Miss Dusha, our help in just about everything; Miss Payne, snapshot director; and to Mr. Martin, finance and circulation manager.

Under Miss Dusha was the "Edelian" Class, with Ruth Enright, as editor, tirelessly working to get the book out on time. Capably assisting her were Marjorie King, associate editor; Lucille Rickard, Arnalde West, and Kenneth Frantz, senior editors; Betty Planck, class editor; Lucy Holliger and Jeanette Treter, club editors; John Hersland and Warren Miller, athletic editors; and Ruth Stritmatter, snapshot editor. Miss Payne had as her helpers with the snapshots: Louis Joy, Dick Schloz, and Harry Watson. To Mr. Martin and his helpers goes the credit for the business part of the "Edelian," and for the splendid advertising in the halls this year, which really must have helped, judging from the "Edelian's" "largest in its history" circulation. Assisting Mr. Martin were Virginia Bangoff, advertising manager; Flo Luella Strayer, circulation manager; and Catherine Sperber, assistant circulation manager.

CRYSTAL

With an ear full of gossip and a hand full of news the "Crystal" staff entered class each day and diligently worked to put out, ten times during the year, the eagerly awaited school paper. The staff was led by Marion Corwin and Pat Meyer, co-editors, and it strived to produce a paper to the liking of both the student body and the faculty. Counseled by Mr. Williams and wisely advised by Miss Gerdes, the staff wrote those colorful write-ups of school dances, mass meetings, class work, and sports events that the students gobbled up as fast as the "Crystal" came out—and that was what was wrong with the "Crystal": it came out too seldom. How we waited for every third Friday to roll around, and what a pleasant interruption it was, when "Crystal" workers tramped into second hour with the papers over their arms! Most of the issues had some specialty, and that was fun. There was a Christmas issue, an issue published by the juniors, a senior issue.

During the year the class entered into many other activities in addition to publishing the "Crystal." They attended the press meetings, held each month, and were hosts to the one held in January. In April, they had their banquet at a Chinese restaurant. Then, to conclude their successful year of work, in May they attended the Press conference at Bowling Green University. Assisting the editors were Juanita Ramsey, assistant editor; Donna Cornell, news editor; Norma Marshall, feature editor; Ruth Lemke, exchange editor; and the staff, including: Dorothy Bailey, Betty Baker, Maxine Beecher, Dorothy Buhler, Marilyn Connors, Marjorie Connors, Yvonne Grossman, Audrey Keilholtz, Jean Marcy, JoAnn Peters, Peggy Pettit, Joyce Schlaff, Ruth Turner, Dorothy Hart, Ed Monahan, and Chester Sullwold. The members of the journalism class served as reporters.

NATIONAL

Scholarship, character, leadership, and service stand as the cardinal objectives of the National Honor Society. Its purpose is ever to hold these ideals before the school as goals toward which all should strive. It is when one is inducted into the society that he is able to realize and to appreciate the honor which has been bestowed upon him, having looked toward that goal in his preceding years. The members of the society recognize the standards of the organization, and make it their duty to encourage others in acquiring scholarship, fine character, habits of service, and the desire to be a leader, thus hoping to advance the welfare of the school. To become a member of this honorary group, one must first of all stand in the upper third of the senior class or the first fifteenth of the junior class. He must also have shown habits of leadership, character, and service, the extent of which is determined by the vote of the teachers. This appointment to the society is a very distinct honor, and it may mean a great deal in later years, when, as a reference, one can state his election to the Libbey chapter of the National Honor Society. As a member you are privileged to wear the pin of the society. The keystone and flaming torch are the distinguishing features of the emblem. Symbolizing the high ideals of this organization, the keystone represents the stable foundation upon which our education must be erected. Only can the hope of leading others in service and achievement be realized when ignorance and false superstition have been dispelled by a diligent search for the truth. The flaming torch is the emblem of the society's purpose—ever to hold erect the flaming light of truth, to lead that others may follow in the light, to keep burning in our school a high ambition to approach the highest ideals of life and to recognize its greatest values, and to serve loyally, faithfully, and unselfishly.

At the induction service in February, amidst exclamations of surprise and delight, eighty-nine students, both juniors and seniors, took their places in the front rows of seats in the auditorium, reserved for the members of the Honor Society when Mr. Williams announced their names. In December the organization was struck with a new idea to help some of the pupils at Libbey. Their idea is to establish a scholarship fund for some worthy Libbey senior. Miss Martha Long was invited to speak to the student body on her recent experiences in Germany. Miss Long gave a very interesting talk, after which she answered many questions for the students. This talk was praised highly by the student body, and the proceeds were used as a nucleus for the scholarship fund. A considerable number of the National Honor Society members took part in the scholarship tests which are given each year at Scott High School for the students of all the Toledo high schools who are able to qualify. For the first time in Libbey's history the National Honor members were given the permission to use their membership cards as permanent hall permits. When announcement of this new idea was made, many declarations of joy were raised by this appreciative group, who realized that it was a very high honor to be so greatly trusted by Mr. Williams and all the teachers of Libbey. Under the fine guidance of Principal Harold E. Williams and Mr. Eugene R. Hunt, advisers; and with the cooperation of president, Bill Mikesell; vice-president, Bill Shafer; and secretary-treasurer, Lucille Rickard; the National Honor Society enjoyed a very creditable year.

They're lively! They're attractive! And they really accomplish things! Anyone can see that from their record—and their picture. But we forgot to tell you: the Peries are different. You can see that from their picture, too. Just notice those white blouses and red skirts, in the place of the usual club sweaters! The Peri social program started off with a fall hay-ride, and the pace of the organization never let down till the end of the year, when the Spring banquet was held in May! In between times—oh, gosh! Just listen to their schedule: they beat all Lit clubs with their early season roast, and a "good time was had by all." (Trite but true.) Not the least of the Peries' accomplishments was the best mass meeting of the year, anticipating the Waite game, and don't worry if every other club tries to dispute us. The girls' Christmas dance at the Women's Building was "super," and who can forget their glittering message, "The Peries Wish You a Merry Christmas," which, though the letters were of phosphorous, left a silvery memory in our minds. Picturesque—and a lot of work—was the Faculty-Mothers' Tea. Who can forget the scurrying around the committee did for about a month before? Or Mrs. Dunham's splendid talk? The year's officers were as peppy as their program. Peggy Pettit was president; Yvonne Grossman, vice-president; Mary Masters, recording secretary; Norma Hemsoth, corresponding secretary; Dolores Gartz, chaplain; Frances Tracy, censor; Miss Dusha, adviser. The last event before the banquet was a swimming party "for girls only," which the girls vowed was nice because there were no boys. What's the matter here?

An engaging group, bursting with energy, carried on their activities this year with pep, vivacity, and enthusiasm. Who? The Phils, of course. They started off with a roast at Pearson Park in September; in October the girls and their dates had a "spiffy" time on a hayride, starting from the Glanzman farms. Libbey Lou, the Carnival doll, was raffled off under Phil supervision, as is the custom. And then came the bomb-shell!! Miss Gosline "up and got married." Of course, that's nice for Miss Gosline, but the Phils missed her like mad, and they had to swallow a few times as they handed her a waffle iron and wished her good-luck.

Came the "Dance of the Islands". The wide-awake committee consisting of Donna Cornell, chairman, Helen Fisk, Barbara Lawrence, Dorothy Bailey, and Wilma Larger, decided to hold the affair at the Trilby Log Cabin, where guests were presented with "leis" to lend an atmosphere of the mysterious glamour of the South Seas to the occasion. After heated discussion (discussion is putting it lightly) as to time and place for their spring banquet, the committee composed of Jo Anne Simmons, chairman, Virginia Cumberworth, Bettelou Watkins, Dora Stump, and Betty Jackson, decided on the Park Lane Hotel as the place for their informal banquet, and, as usual, afterwards, they were all happy about the whole thing. For their senior gifts, the girls received tiny gold emblems hung on chains. They were called necklaces, but before a week had passed, Phils were prancing about with their necklaces dangling from their wrists. The officers were Marilyn Ruch, president; Donna Cornell, vice-president; Marilyn Connors, recording secretary; Marjorie Connors, corresponding secretary; Lucille Rickard, treasurer; Betty Planck, chaplain; Jo Anne Simmons and Norma Marshall, censors; Dorothy Bailey, reporter; and Miss Gerdes, adviser.

"Vitality" seemed to be the by-word of the Zets this year, for they certainly added zip to our social life! The merry members in their suede jackets pepped the sagging spirits of the football players with their rousing DeVilbiss mass-meeting, while the girls' annual roast, at Pearson Park, was enjoyed so immensely, that it was soon followed by another. Those Zets certainly don't do things halfway! As usual they gave doughnut sales, but they swayed from their custom just once, when they gave a potato-chip sale—I suppose, just to prove they didn't have one-track minds. Anyhow, don't say anything to the girls about doughnuts. They just answer, "Well, they make money!"

This year's dance was very cleverly arranged by Carol Venable and her committee of Patsy Goode, Alice Johnson, Betty Maloney, Ruth Snyder, and Eileen Blum. It really made History! Just ask any Zet—or, for that matter, just ask any, Phil or Peri, and they'll even tell you, grudgingly, that the dance was pretty smooth! (That's something, too, when you can get the Lit clubs to compliment each other.) The decorations were pennants from all the leading colleges in America; the music was supplied by Johnny Burnett. P. S. Everyone had Fun. Earlier in the season, the Zet girls had a good old-fashioned get together at Mary Ann Loveless' house. After a pot-luck supper, the evening was spent in recreation. The formal banquet, which was held in May at the Women's Building, was one of beauty and will always be remembered by the Zetaethan seniors. The officers were Mary Ann Loveless, president; Carol Venable, vice-president; Marian Corwin, recording secretary; Betty Baker, corresponding secretary; Phyllis Bell, treasurer; Margaret Opfer, sergeant-at-arms; Ruth Stritmatter, Betty Hilding, Helen Green, censors; Miss DeLisle, Miss Henderson, and Miss Eberth, advisers.

The Forum and Q. D.'s—the clubs with the dream men of the school!! Of course, right now we can hear each club claiming to be the better, but if you don't want to get involved, it's better to just remain undecided—that is, if you can. But let's hear what each club has to say for itself: The Forum stands for fun, but first the Forum stands for Libbey. Starting off with fun, a roast was held at Pearson Park in October. After overcoming the effects of too many hot dogs, the Forum members planned their dance. The president, George Morley, appointed the dance committee, headed by Bill Mikesell. Called the "Forum Frenesi", it was a truly fine dance, held at Trilby Log Cabin to the tune of Johnny Burnett's tunesters. Closing the parade for the year was a memorable banquet. Much credit for the leadership of the Forum should be given the advisers, Mr. Leiser and Mr. Hosler; the officers, George Morley, president; Jim Simmons, vice-president; Jim Becker, secretary; Dick Rimer, treasurer; and Jim Carrithers, sergeant-at-arms.

Spots of Orange before our eyes; behold, the sweaters of the Q. D.'s! Their social activities were just as bright and peppy as their sweaters. Snapping into action, they opened the season with two roasts in October. In February, the club sponsored a program featuring Frank Buck's trained chimpanzee. A representative from Frank Buck's company brought the clever animal to perform before the student body, with the proceeds going to the band uniform fund. The Trilby Log Cabin was the scene of the annual Q. D. Shin-Dig, which was held in March. The banquet honoring the senior members of the club was held in April. A successful social season ended with annual picnic. The club chose as its officers: Jim Ruble, president; Glen Schmakel, vice-president; Walter Rieger, secretary; George Pier, treasurer; and Tony Pizza, sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Cony and Mr. Baker are the advisers of the club.

Blue dresses float before our eyes, and we remember—yes, they belong to those Senior Friendship clubbers. The dresses, though, were just minor details compared to all the activities these peppy girls carried through. It all started out with a pledge, which the girls who signed were honor bound to keep. So, you see, they're really select! From there on the girls were whirled into a money-making campaign. The first idea, of course, was a candy sale, with the inevitable dough-nut sale following. The girls, though, had their eyes on big gains, and their next financial venture came in the form of the "Red, White, and Blue Follies", a variety show in its best form. But don't get us wrong when you read all this patter about money. The girls weren't just doing all this work for the fun of it. They had a purpose in mind, for, you see, part of the Friendship program was devoted to the helping of others, and—don't let anyone tell you differently,—you need Money. Committees were appointed, and Ruth Turner and her welfare committee had a big share of the work, as they divided their time between assisting down at the Y and thinking up new ways to help people.

On the social side, the Friendship didn't let down, either. At the end of the football season, the players and their mothers were feted at a banquet. In the spring, the children from the Miama Orphans Home were given a party, and it was here that the girls lost their heads — and their hearts. Each girl had an orphan to whom she had been sort of a big sister all year, and then at the party, she had the privilege of playing with this child all afternoon. Many a girl left the party that afternoon with a new "steady" ((those kids are fast) in the form of a cherubic-faced, fourth grade little boy. The programs of the club were good. These girls choose as their topic for the year "America"; and there were movies, talks on American women, music, poetry and occupations. Some of the talks were given by the girls, themselves, but the biggest treats were when they had an outside speaker. They'll all remember Mrs. Kruse's talk on her "pack-sack" of poetry. In May, a banquet for the mothers was held, followed just at the close of the school year, by a farewell party, where the girls sat around and gloated over their Extra-Special year. The officers were Kathleen Sund, president; Betty Taylor, vice-president; Lucy Holliger, secretary; Doris Smith, treasurer; Lois Campbell, chaplain; Miss Payne, adviser.

Talk about progress—the Junior Friendship Club certainly achieved it this year! As always, this active group of girls had a busy year. Besides their social affairs, each girl had one of the ladies at the Lucas County Home for a grandmother. Throughout the year the girls visited these women, taking gifts to them and helping to make their lives a little happier. Many programs of interest were planned during the year by Joyce Menke, program chairman. The girls made surveys on a number of different vocations, and they had several speakers who gave them very valuable information on these vocations. Among the ones who spoke to the club was Mrs. Ewing, principal of nurses at Toledo Hospital. In April, the Junior Friendship and the Junior Hi-Y had a party together, giving the boys and girls a chance to become acquainted. As the old saying goes, "Seeing is believing," it is easy to see that this club has interested the students. Witness their membership. The advisers, who were always there and ready to help, were Miss Irwin and Miss Allen. Officers for the year were Ruth Snyder, president; Rosemary Roach, vice-president; Pauline Lantz, secretary; Dorothy Koring, treasurer; Evelyn Dority, chaplain.

Vim, vigor, and vitality. That seems to be the motto of the Sophomore Friendship Club. They have done many interesting things this school year and have been on their toes all the time. Their aim has been to make others happy and to strive for the highest standards of morals for themselves. A Christmas party was given for the orphans at the Miami Childrens' Home. The girls brought presents for each of the boys and girls and went home feeling much happier because they had seen the delighted faces of these children as they received their gifts. Another party was held for these orphans at Easter. Magazines were collected by each of the members to send to the Day Mission and the Old Ladies' Home to give the people something to do in their spare time. The birthday of the Girl Reserves was celebrated from April 20-26th. A Mother's Day Party was given in honor of all the girls' mothers.

Interesting programs were given at each of the meetings. Talks were given about music, books, radio, and other things of interest. The list of things that this club has done is too long to enumerate. In order to have a successful club it must be led by leaders who are full of ideas and are able to carry them out. This year the club was directed by Betty Gartz, president; Ruth Robeson, vice-president; Wilma Sperber, secretary; Sue Williams, treasurer; and Myrtle Leffel, chaplain. Mrs. Black and Miss Gilbert took the reins of advisership very capably after Miss Gosline moved to Illinois.

With the benefit of their previous training, the boys of the Senior Hi-Y Club made their year in the development of high ideals and character an active and beneficial one. A program of great merit and high Christian ideals was arranged throughout the year. Speakers of unusually high calibre were obtained for each meeting. Several of these speakers were The Reverend Russell Humbert, Mrs. Margaret Slater, and Mr. Chester Henderson. Fun and education were included in their programs. The annual skating party was given at Memorial Hall with its usual success. In February, the vocational guidance program was launched under the auspices of the Senior Hi-Y. The guidance was of unquestionable value to each boy in the selection of his vocation as it gave him the privilege of interviewing representatives of various trades and professions. The "Picadores", a group of singing and fun-loving Toledo business men, furnished an outstanding event of the year, which won wide acclaim from the student body; these men were brought to Libbey by the Hi-Y clubs. Together with the Senior Friendship Club girls, the boys presented the annual Lenten services, which proved to be full of inspiration and enlightening thoughts, and which were always well attended.

Culminating a year of wide interests and sturdy friendships was the most anticipated event of the year, the Mothers' and Sons' Banquet, held in May in conjunction with the other Hi-Y clubs of Libbey. The credit for the exceptionally fine quality of entertainment and guidance should be given to the advisers, Principal Harold E. Williams, Mr. Kiefer, and Mr. Ivan Smith of the South Side Y.M.C.A., who worked hard during the year to make the society function as a Christian organization in both the school and the community. Carrying on the duties of their officers were Eugene Phillips, president; Donald Ottens, vice-president; Jim Lattin, secretary; Warren Miller, treasurer and Jim Erkert, sergeant-at-arms.

The traditional vivid green sweaters with white emblem symbolize the interests and the activity of the Junior Hi-Y Club. The members are outstanding leaders for practicing high ideals and exhibiting Christian standards of living. The Junior Club cooperated with the two other Hi-Y groups in both meetings and social events. In September, a large delegation was present at the retreat held each year at Camp Storer. As always the Junior Hi-Y Club was right there on top when it came to giving one of those every popular skating parties. This club held their annual skate on October 7 at Memorial Hall, where everyone had a grand time. Roasts were also held both in the autumn and in the spring at Pearson Park where everyone ate and ate. You know how these boys are anyway, so just imagine how their appetites would be out in the open on a roast.

Three members represented the club at the state conference at Springfield. In addition to this, there was a party held at the Y.M.C.A. with the Junior Friendship Club. The kids all certainly had a swell time there. All three Hi-Y clubs cooperated with each other by bringing to our school the "Picadores", a group of talented business men, to raise money for new band uniforms; by sponsoring the vocational guidance forums; and by cooperating with all the clubs in the city in order to make the February forums a success. The annual Mothers' and Sons' Banquet was held on May 13. Principal Harold E. Williams, under whose guidance the boys developed and enjoyed a useful program this year, is the adviser for the club and is assisted by Mr. Kiefer. The officers were Williston O'Connell, president; Allen Netterfield, vice-president; George Hagedon, secretary; Bob Houser, treasurer; and Jim Warwick, chaplain.

From the sophomore class, a group of boys have been selected who are destined to be the leaders of tomorrow. Their first introduction to the Hi-Y movement was when a small group of boys was notified that they had been chosen for membership in the Sophomore Hi-Y Clubs. They were given a thorough initiation by the Junior and Senior Hi-Y Clubs. The club was then organized. Meetings were held where future events of the club were discussed, and other students, who were initiated by the first group, were invited to join. After these preliminaries had been completed, a series of interesting programs and meetings was held throughout the year with the help of the other clubs. Although many of their meetings were held with the Junior and Senior Hi-Y boys, the Sophomores had their own problems of learning the ideals of their club and of making decisions for themselves.

During February the boys cooperated with the other Hi-Y clubs of the city in sponsoring the annual Sunday forums. A potluck supper and a party with the Sophomore Friendship Club were other activities that the members of this club enjoyed during the year. On May 13, the annual Mothers' and Sons' Banquet was held along with the other Hi-Y Clubs of Libbey. The year was concluded by a picnic up the river with the other Hi-Y clubs in the school. Principal Harold S. Williams and Mr. Keifer, the club's advisers were always on hand to help the boys with any problems they might have and these leaders were assisted by Jim Foltz, president; Duane Johnson, vice-president; Dave Jones, secretary-treasurer; and Jim Trautwein, chaplain. This group of boys will be looked to next year to continue their splendid progress of character building and to live up to the high standards set by this year's Junior Hi-Y Club.

Stop! Look! And Read! Here are two clubs to read about: the Latin Honor and the French Club. The greatest possible honor to a Latin student is membership in the Latin Honor Society. Because it is purely an honorary society, a student must have an "A" average for two consecutive semesters before he is eligible for membership. To retain his membership, he must average no lower than a "B". Each year a group of medals is awarded by the society for outstanding work. The Latin Honor Society Medal is awarded to the senior who shows the greatest interest in the study of Latin. This year Doris Smith was awarded this silver medal. "Things before me and not me before things" is the inscription on the "Eta Sigma Phi", national Latin Honorary fraternity, medal, awarded at commencement to the outstanding four-year Latin student. The officers, appointed by Mrs. Burton, advisor, are William Shafer, president; Eileen Armentrout, vice-president; and Betty Terriss, secretary-treasurer.

You know these people when you hear 'em because they're the ones who say those little French phrases that no one else can understand. Yes, French is spoken, not only in the French classes, but at all the French Club meetings—"mais oui." The group studied French authors throughout the year, and even presented some short plays in French written by some of the members. Their year's activities started off in grand style with a skating party held at Memorial Hall, and the activities were brought to a grand close with a banquet on May 3 at the Allen Tea Room, where all the members filled themselves to their capacity. The officers, who served throughout the year, were president, Juanita Ramsey; vice-president, Gordon Gomol; secretary, Lois Bearss; treasurer, Betty Hopkins; and censors, Nancy MacPhie, Wilma Larger, Betty Planck, and Patsy Barton; everyone worked hard assisting their adviser, Miss Krueger, le professeur de francais.

LATIN HONOR AND FRENCH

Row 1—Alice Johnson, Doris Clark, Bette Maloney, Marilyn Connors, Dorothy Bailey, Marjorie Connors, Jean Collins, Thais Schrieber. Row 2—Eileen Blum, Lillian Bayles, Miss Coehrs, Helen Woodruff, Angeline Chmielewski, Marian Colwell, Hazel Shock. Row 3—Dora Gearhart, Lova Steiner, Pearl Dunlap, Elizabeth Kern, Dorothy Brisbin, Helen Wickerham, Marquerite Stahl, Lorraine Ehlinger, Helen Mae Crane.

Hay! Hay! That's what the Tertulia Castellana, better known as the Spanish Club, was saying after their hayride with which they opened their series of events this year. The members certainly had an enjoyable evening; but then, who doesn't have a good time at a hayride? The amount of "wampum" in the treasury was increased by a doughnut sale which the club sponsored in November. As always the school helped to make this sale a success by buying those little round things with holes in them, known as doughnuts. "The Spanish Club Skate" was the name given to the popular skating party held at Memorial Hall by this club on January 20. With the exception of a few spills taken by the more inexperienced skaters, the evening was one of the highlights of the year.

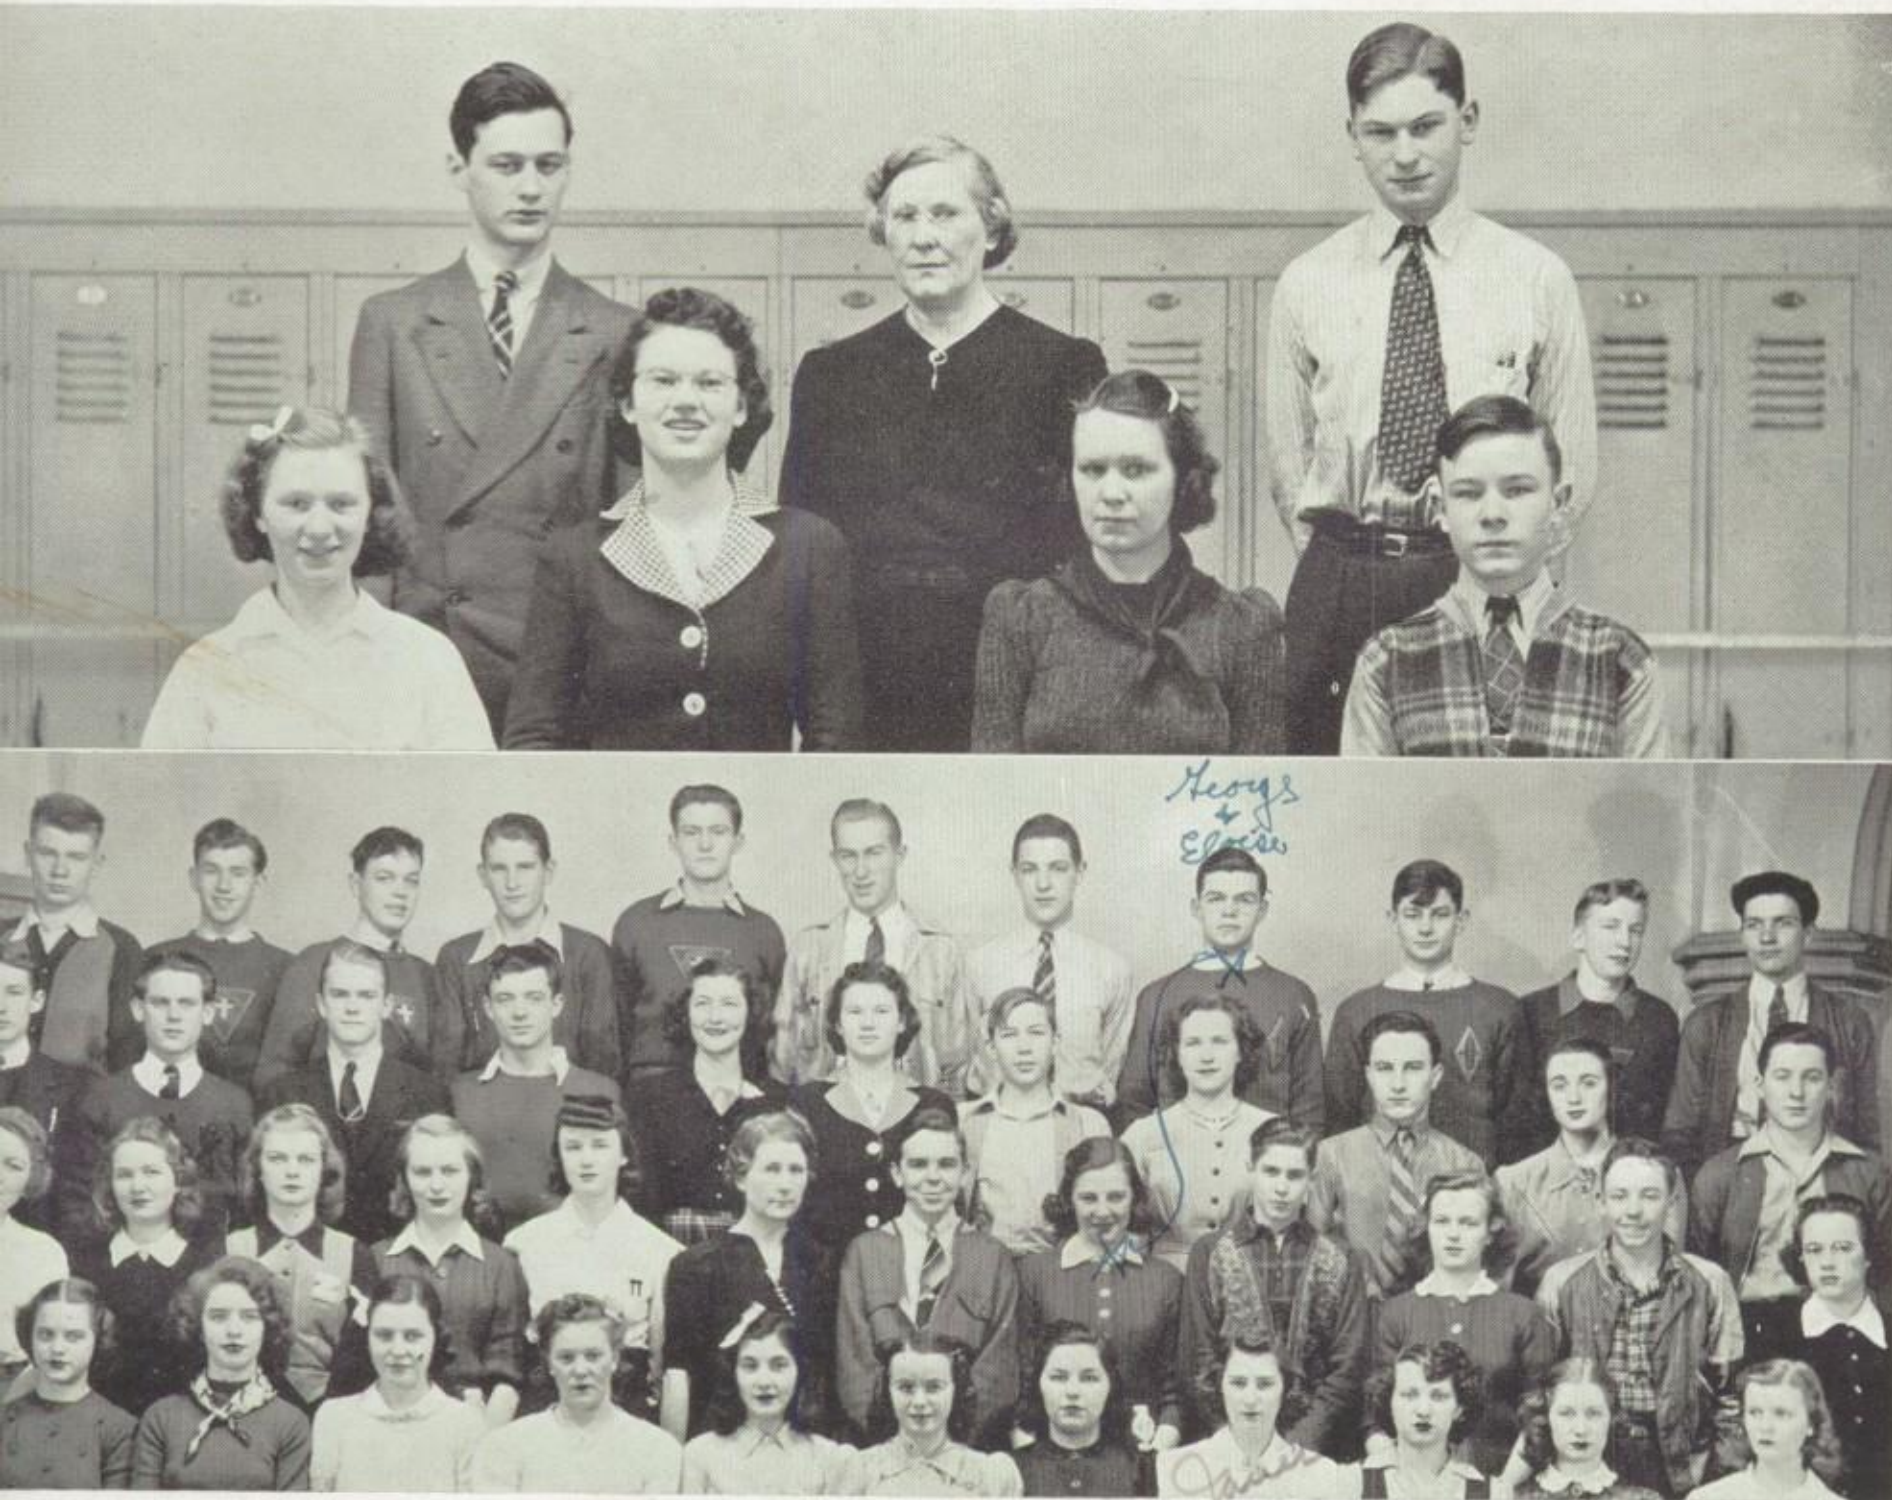

South America was the subject of the programs at the club's meetings. These programs were prepared by Eileen Blum, vice-president. Talks were given on points of interest in South America, and a movie was also shown to the club at one of their meetings. In March they went to the Toledo Museum of Art where they heard a lecture on some things of great interest to all of them. No sir, it can't be said that this club is one that sits back and is an onlooker. They're right there on the top, and they don't miss a trick. They certainly ended up the year with great gusto when they presented their variety show. Leave it to them to scout out the talent in this school that most of us never knew existed. Thus concludes the year 1941 with a banquet for the members of the Spanish Club in May. The officers who served through the year with the advisers, Miss Russell and Miss Coehrs, were Pearl Dunlap, president; Eileen Blum, vice-president; Lova Steiner, secretary; Ed Neuhaus, treasurer; and Charles Potter, sergeant-at-arms.

What a contrast! Here we have our smallest and one of our largest clubs, the German and the Dramatic. The German Club may be small, but there's an old and true saying that good things come in small packages, and we can believe it when we see the list of activities. It would be fun some time to sit in on one of their programs, for, from what we hear, they must be educational as well as interesting. Chester Dunham, with his knowledge of Europe, could have kept the German Club entertained all year if he had wished. Besides talks on the changes in Germany, the Hitler Regime, Bismark, and conditions in present-day Germany, round table discussions were held about German music and culture. The club was lead this year by Ruth Schultz, president; Chester Dunham, vice-president; Carolyn Wolff, secretary; and Donald Smith, treasurer. The adviser of the club is Miss Lok.

"Curtain going up!"—the cue for the Dramatic Club to come into the spotlight with another year to add to its young career. After many arduous days and nights, the three-act comedy-mystery, "Grumpy", was produced by the seniors. The student body missed a delightful hour if they did not see this play of an elderly man's clever maneuvering to solve the mystery of a stolen diamond. In March, the peppy, enthusiastic juniors came down stage with a fine enactment of "June Mad", a hilarious comedy of youth and its many entangling problems. A group of members produced "Another Beginning" later in the year. The Dramatic Club functioned socially as well as dramatically when a fall roast was held at Pearson Park. The annual banquet was an event looked forward to by every member. Through the cooperation and faithfulness of the adviser, Miss Costigan, and the president, Jim Carrithers; vice-president, Bill Cox; recording secretary, Phyllis Giffin; corresponding secretary, Donna Pollex; and Duane Warrick, treasurer, an eventful year was realized.

We have been eavesdropping on a rehearsal of the Glee Club, as they prepared for one of their long-awaited performances. This group has quantity, but most important it has quality, and as we listened in we heard them going over sacred numbers which they presented later at First Baptist Church on March 23, and on April 6 in the Libbey Auditorium. We just happened to hear of the honors which were bestowed upon them; Peter Tkach, music supervisor at West High, Minnesota, chose this Libbey group to demonstrate at a teachers' convention the correct way to teach choral music. Another honor came when they were requested to give a concert at the Kiwanis Club. Not only have they done a lot outside of Libbey, but also in Libbey. In April, Mr. Everhart's public speaking class gave a program of choric reading with the chorus. Four groups of the public speaking class were present to correspond with the bass, tenor, alto, and soprano groups of the chorus. Several programs were given over the loud speaking system. One very effective number was "Finlandia," with Mr. Williams reading the words with the chorus of humming voices. This really impressed us because it sounded as if we were home listening to the radio with some professional group performing. We might also mention that the Glee Club is divided into two groups: the mixed chorus and the girls' chorus. Each has given its own concerts during the year in churches throughout the city and in the public schools. These projects were in charge of Jim Burwell, president, Marilyn Ruch, vice-president, and Marian McIntosh, secretary. And, there is one thing we Libbey students are sure of. If it were not for our director, Mr. Holland, Libbey would not be on the musical map of Ohio.

What would we do without them? The band and the activities department are always with us. Room 109 has been the permanent address of the business or activities department in Libbey. This department is under Mr. Martin's management and there we find Norma Hemsoth and her assistant, Vivian Dais, as heard of the activities; Virginia Bangoff, "Edelian" advertising head, and her assistant, Marilyn Kaiser; and Flo Luella Strayer, circulation head, with her helper, Bonnie Freeman, busy from about eight in the morning to way after two-thirty in the afternoon. They certainly do handle a lot of business. They call it to our attention when the activities tickets are distributed, when a club needs publicity, when any mimeographing or printing needs to be done (you've all seen their printed posters decorating the halls), and at the end of the year, after getting ads and handling financial affairs, they distribute the "Edelian"—so you see—what would we do without them? And—

Then there's the band. "Want'a buy a magazine?" has been the battle cry at Libbey this year. In order to show how much they appreciate them, the Libbey students put on a magazine drive to earn money to put these musicians on the field next year in full military regalia. My, will that be thrilling, to see them come marching on the field playing the Star Spangled Banner, 'cause what would a football game be without a good, well-dressed band? The rolling of drums by Thelma Farrel, president of the organization, has awakened many Libbey students to the fact that Libbey has a great player! With the increased enrollment every year the size of the band has reached a peak with sixty-five members. Not only at football games do we need them, but also inside school activities. At Christmas time the students really enjoyed the familiar carols which they played. And then outside of school, the band was busy too. On May 6 they played with the Orpheus Club, a male singing organization.

Mmmmm! Do those cookies smell good! Yes, you're right, they were made by the Home Economics Club girls. But these girls have not only cooked; they have had many other ways of passing their time this past year. First on their program was a Turkey Day Dance, given in the gymnasium. An extra feature of this affair was the group of programs handed out with a turkey gobbler on their covers. Then, in March they showed their mothers what they had learned with a tea; as part of the entertainment, a play was presented which showed the guiding and kindly hand of the mother in the daily routine of life. This play was so well received that later it was presented to the freshmen. The month of March was also the occasion for the group's skating party. A good profit rewarded the girls' efforts in this enterprise. Following the skating party and concluding their social schedule was the annual banquet presented in May. Complementing their social activities were the many items of service. The girls knitted sweaters and gave cookie sales as their contribution to the band uniform fund.

Every club has educational programs and the Home Economics Club had some of the best. Just two of their most interesting were an educational movie which pictured the evils of the slums and bad housing in general, and a talk by Miss Ruth Sanger, head of the Home Economics department in Toledo, who came to one of the meetings and spoke to the members about the activities of other clubs in the city.

The cabinet which headed all of these activities was made up of Ruth Cobb, president; Ruth Grieser, vice-president; Phyllis Brownmiller, secretary; Charlotte Buck, treasurer; and Jacqueline Denzig, reporter of credits. The advisers are Miss Wiley, Miss Lloyd, and Miss Owen.

Out into the business world go these young people who have learned business methods and who have also had many social activities. For information on business principles, the commercial club, headed by Mrs. Houser and Mr. Osgood, advisers; Dorothy Lewandowski; president; Leonard Tanalski, vice-president; Dorothy Ludwig, secretary; and Mary Gale Bergman, treasurer will be able to help you. Like all other clubs, the Commercial club held a roast at Pearson Park in the fall—they are a lot of fun—and later, in January they gave the "Roller Rumpus", a romping skating party in Memorial Hall. To get into this club, one has to go through tough initiation. Leonard Tanalski, chairman, Elizabeth Pizza, Jean Leonhardt, and Lois Bluhm were in charge of these cruelties. For a little variety this year, however, the members were kind enough to give their pledges a Christmas party. The pledges appreciated this so much, that they gave a St. Patrick's Day party for the members in return. Then, of course, came the initiation! On May 1, their banquet was held, arranged by Virginia Bogusz and Eileen Guhl. Every year as a part of their schedule of programs the club visits factories and plants, but because of defense activities this year they were unable to take these trips. They did have an interesting program schedule.

Most young men are interested in engineering. It is a profession which appeals to them because it gives them a chance to construct. This might be a statement by Mr. Sterling, adviser of the Engineering Club, to explain the large enrollment of the organization. The boys who were leaders were members of the cabinet: Louis Kowalski president; Eugene Kennedy, vice-president; Stanley Momot, secretary; and Jim Burwell, treasurer.

If we were to question members of this club about their activities, we are sure that they would know all the answers—because they all turned out and had a good time! In October a roast at Pearson Park got their support. Fine weather and good food contributed to their good time (maybe it was mostly the good "hot dogs"!) A skating party called "The Shamrock Skate" held on St. Patrick's Day saw them (Irish and otherwise) enjoying themselves. They not only had fun but learned something on their annual education trip, which, this year, took them to Detroit to visit the Chrysler Motor Corporation. This was an all-day trip, a trip through the factories with guides to explain different things which would interest these prospective engineers. They also saw Detroit. Coming home in their chartered buses, they were quite satisfied that it had been a worthwhile day. Those members who are not graduating look forward to the next year's educational trip. After the influence of large corporations and good teaching, they will probably become so good that future newspapers will report . . . "Former Libbey Mechanical Drawing Student designs plans for new machinery parts, making engineering history."

The phrase, "clever with a pencil", might well be used to describe the members of these two clubs. They each came out with something well worth any efforts they put into it. "Buy it, try it, see it in Lib" was one of the snappy slogans used by the Utamara to advertise their publication this year. The "Lib" is a magazine containing articles, cartoons, cracks, and queries about Libbey students, the Libbey faculty, and just Libbey in general. The name was taken from "Ad-Lib", meaning off the record; and, of course, Lib is part of the name Libbey. June Neff presided at the club's meetings, while Casimer Zielinski's job was being both secretary and treasurer. The staff of the Lib consisted of Clarence Graser, editor; Mary Ann Loveless, Joe Dick; and June Neff doing feature cartoons; Lawrence Erb, cartoons; Phyllis Bell, Jeannette Treter, and Nancy MacPhie, fashions; Gordon Gomol, advertising; and Casimer Zielinski, business manager. Miss Bartley is the adviser.

. . . and again the Architectural Club has brought great honors to Libbey. For the second consecutive year, an article was published about this club in the "Student Life" magazine. The outstanding winners at the Ohio State Fair were Ed Cumberworth, with six high awards, Virgil Mooney with four high awards, and Nelson Musch with three awards. This competition was in small house designing.

Architects had social affairs too. Besides "The Architect's Amble," a skating party, they had a roast at Pearson Park followed by a party, which the members gave in honor of Dick Cook, retiring president who left school to join the Navy. The new president was Bob Bricker; vice-president, Virgil Mooney; Ted Kowalski, secretary; Bob Carnell, treasurer; Lester Archer, sergeant-at-arms; and Mr. Packer, adviser.

Hear ye! Hear ye! Hear ye! All science lovers. Here are two clubs which ought to satisfy all of you: the Biology Club for the nature lovers and the Alchemists for the chemical-minded. Both clubs are among the most active ones in the school. The Biology Club started off its year with a matinee dance in the school gym last fall. Talk about originality! This club certainly has it. The first ice-skating party ever held by this school was sponsored by the Biology Club last February at the Ice House. Bright red cotton blouses for the girls and bright red flannel shirts for the boys were chosen as the club's way to be known from the other societies. As part of their programs for the year, members of this club took a field trip to the Toledo Zoo, and a movie was given at one of their meetings. All in all the Biology Club had a busy year. Officers for this year were Harriett Brummitt, president; Margaret Harris, vice-president; Rosemary Roach, secretary; and Bob Jaegly, treasurer. The advisers are Miss Fiedler and Mr. Robinson, who substituted for Mr. Rusie when his new job as boys' dean prevented his giving much of his time to the club.

The Alchemists began with their initiation of new members. Early in the fall the club had a weiner roast. At one of their meetings, Mr. Leaper, from the Neon Sign Company, demonstrated different types of Neon signs and explained how they were made. Mary Lou Spooner, a Libbey graduate from Miami University, spoke to them on "Sulpha Miracles" at another meeting. A field trip was made through the Ohio Clover Leaf Dairy. This year's activities were directed by Mr. Vossler, the adviser, and the officers: Jack Lawrence, president; Frances Padget, vice-president; Steffne Gzik, secretary; and Bob Cope, treasurer.

At one of the club meetings this year, just when members had given up all hope for a good program, in bounced one of the Projection clubbers (and trappings) and we all settled down for a half hour of sheer enjoyment. However, those Projection Club kids have to work. They each give up one of their study periods during the day so they can be on call anytime a teacher wants a movie shown in one of her classes. That's service for you—and it comes with a smile, too. In April came the group's moment; they put on a movie for the whole student body, with the proceeds going toward new equipment for the club. The movie was such a marked success and such a convenient way to make money, that some of the members are wondering why they "didn't think of that before!" The officers were Stanley Swantack, president; Raymond Wisner, vice-president; Elizabeth Kern, secretary; Eugene Proshek, treasurer; and Deanne Hemsoth, sergeant-at-arms. The adviser is Mr. Lincke.

To bring together students with a common mathematical interest—that is the purpose of the Math Club. This second year's program, thanks to Mr. Harding and Miss Voorheis, has greatly surpassed the first. Of value to every math student were the instructive, as well as entertaining meetings. At each of them a speaker of special interest was presented, or else the members of the program committee arranged for games relating to math. Full attendance was guaranteed when refreshments were served. Not only to the advisers, but also to the officers must the credit for a splendid year be given. President Bill Mikesell was aided by Betty Hilding, vice-president, Erma Shulz, secretary, Kenneth Kroggel, treasurer, and Lemar MacRitchie, sergeant-at-arms.

Whenever you think of girls in sports, just think of the Girls' Athletics Association for they represent the sports-minded girls in Libbey, and whenever you think of the G.A.A., think of the "L" girls because they are a group of the most active girls in the club, who work the hardest.

Besides these "L" girls there are many others who are working, but have not yet received their letters. They may have their numerals, be near receiving their letters, be lower classmen who are just starting out, or older girls who have just decided to join—all of these make up the Girls' Athletics Association. Now, as to what this club does. Their year is made up of three seasons. They started out with volleyball, then came basketball, and then baseball. By the time the baseball season comes, competition runs high. The teams have had time to "size each other up." Friendly enemies are made—there is always one team which seems to outshine the others. Besides the tournaments there are social events. This year the girls held a Hallowe'en after-school dance in the gym which they decorated "extra special." Then, one Saturday morning they decided to be very energetic and hike out to Ottawa Park where they really did justice to a bright and early breakfast. During the hustle and bustle of the Carnival, one of the busiest booths belonged to the G.A.A. They had the dartball game and as they urged customers, "Hurry, hurry, three chances for a dime!", many people stepped up to try their luck and were rewarded with a choice of prizes. The Y.W.C.A. was the scene of their next activity, a splash party. I guess swimming is always a favorite with athletic-minded girls. Realizing that one should "shop early to avoid the rush", Edith Broadway, president; Ethyle Wommel, vice-president; Velma Langley, secretary; and Joyce Menke, treasurer were seen conferring very early in the year about the club's banquet with which they ended their year way ahead of the other clubs.

DR. CHARLES H. WILLIAMS

OUR GOOD FRIEND

Respected and revered by students and teachers alike, Dr. Charles H. Williams, our patron, our benefactor, and our greatest booster, has given countless hours of his time and energy to the progress of Libbey High School. The brother of our principal, Dr. Williams, eagerly anticipating all of the school's major activities by his generous donation of gifts, prepared many pleasant occasions for us during the past year. Especially remembered because of the valuable and beautiful prizes that became the proud possessions of many students were the Annual Carnival and the Annual Door Prize Show. Not content with offering the trophies which are awarded each year to the most popular player in football, basketball and track, at the close of the basketball season Dr. Williams surprised each member of the varsity basketball with an individual trophy commemorating the year's exceptional achievement. Each year the Dr. C. H. Williams' honor trophies are awarded to the outstanding boy and girl of the senior class. In each case the winner's name is engraved on the cup which is kept by the recipient for a year. No other person has given so much to Libbey or asked for so little as our good friend, Dr. Williams. He will always be remembered by the students he has never forgotten.

ADMINISTRATION

Equipment, schedules, officials, salesmen, ticket sales, diplomatic adjustments, weather worries, budget worries stream through the consciousness of the director of athletics with a soothing lull of pleasant accomplishment today and a torturous jerk of apprehension tomorrow. But the athletics of the school go on, the end of the current season necessitating the planning of the program of the following year. The work is not easy, but at Libbey the department of athletics is run smoothly and efficiently under the skillful and capable management of the athletic director, Mr. Charles Martin. In the various ramifications of his work, Mr. Martin is assisted by Orville Henrion, who assumes the duties of financial secretary, and by Herb Ramsdell, who manages the equipment.

COACHES

Athletic teams are what their coaches make them. At Libbey the lineup of coaches is admirable. Each year Bill Orwig, with Chuck Robinson assisting as backfield coach, puts out a team that is feared by other schools in the scramble for football laurels. The reserve team is taught the fundamentals of football by Al Jeffery and his assistant, Mr. Wyper, who incidentally has left us for a year's sojourn in a government training camp. Again in basketball, Coaches Orwig and Jeffery collaborate, the former polishing up the varsity, the latter training the reserves. Each year "Jeff" sends skilled players from the championship reserve team to the varsity group that Orwig has boosted during the past year to a city championship. Bill Everhart, gentleman and snappy track coach, has raised the fame and fortune of our track and cross-country teams. Yearly, Coach Spackey enters a golf team that is a threat for the state championship and the tennis team which fights for city honors.

F O O T

The fighting captain of the 1940 football team, Tony "F r a m p" Pizza. James "Speed" Erkert was ever working for the good of the team. A steady player at his position was Eugene Phillips, who played center and helped back the line.

Always working hard to gain a regular berth on the team was James Koester, guard. A substitute this year, a regular next, Dave Temple, end. Playing on the regular team as a sophomore, Al Baron, end, is due to go places.

Rollin Furry, a regular as a junior, should do even better as a senior at his halfback position. A hard fighter, a hard worker, Lowell "Whitie" Steusloff, guard. John Hersland, full back, was a great plunger for the team.

A hard tackler and vicious player always working for the good of the team, Hoyland Gannon, end. A chunky boy, but hard to move, Bob Smith, tackle. A regular player as a junior, much better in his senior year, Ed Burrus, guard.

A regular for two years and a tireless plunger, James Ruble, half back. Isaac Lewis, guard, the laugh maker and fun provider of the team. A driving runner hard to stop once he gets started, Henry McClelland, half back.

Light in weight, but strong in spirit and playing ability, Lawrence Miller, half back. For the past two years, the midget, Walter "Mouse" Rieger, made up for size in spirit. A tough player Ed Shepler, tackle, is next year's captain.

A hard fighter and strong in spirit, Denver Duffey, guard. The fast, tall, and magnetic-fingered end, Ken Ramsdell. Tony Krall, the big and powerful guard who broke up many of the oppositions plays by his hard, fast charge across the line.

The fellow in the middle of the line, Don White, center. A mainstay in last year's line and a harder worker this year, Clyde Ash, tackle. The man who takes care of the equipment with the help of the managers, Herb Ramsdell.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Libbey inaugurated its 1940 grid season by playing Aurora, Illinois. The Aurora eleven defeated the Cowboys, 13-12, despite the fact that our team outplayed the boys from Illinois. Libbey fared somewhat better in the opening game of the intra-city league when they defeated a scrappy Woodward eleven, 19-7. Libbey again met defeat, this time in the hands of the Central Irish. The Irish scored 15 points three minutes before the end of the first half, and held that margin until the end of the game. Libbey's fourth encounter was with Horace Mann from Gary, Indiana. Our boys returned victorious, climaxing a 93-yard drive with three minutes left to play, which gained them the needed 7 points. Next came the old and bitter rivals from Scott, who beat the Cowboys 6-0 because of the runback of an intercepted pass, 60 yards for the only score of the game. Thus Scott regained possession of the little brown jug. Next Libbey invaded Pennsylvania and received a severe set-back when the hard hitting Ferrell team ran roughshod over the Cowbys to score 32 points to Libbey's 6. The Libbey boys redeemed themselves in their next encounter and ran up 40 points to the 0 score of the opposing team. The victim was Cleveland Central, a team composed entirely of negro boys. In this year's encounter with Waite the Cowboys lost, but only after a struggle. Our boys put up a much better fight than was anticipated but, nevertheless, were defeated, 20-6. On Thanksgiving Day, Libbey was defeated badly by the greatest DeVilbiss team since the inauguration of that school. Paced by Bob Chappius, a sterling player, the Tigers ran up 40 points on the scoreless Libbeyites.

DR. RALPH LADD

BASKETBALL

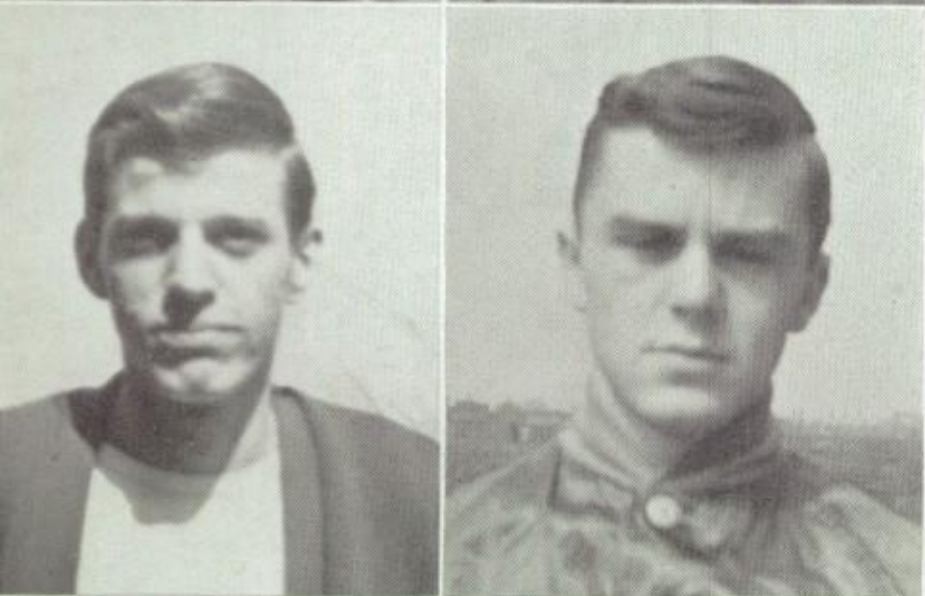

If he lives up to his past year's reputation, Warren Schoonover, one of the two junior regulars, should be one of the team's outstanding performers next year.

In many a person's mind, Captain Bob Fenton was the best guard in the city. Time after time he guarded the high-scorer of the opposing team and delighted in cracking his opponent's scores.

A substitute in his junior year, Dave Temple, without a doubt, will be one of the team's sterling players as a senior member of the basketball quintet.

Jim Ruble played his second year as a member of the varsity basketball team. The result was a valuable player to the team because of the great spirit he showed.

Two years as a regular, two years a high-scorer, "Spider" gained a fine reputation for his excellent performances in every encounter.

George Pier a speedy and valuable player to the team. His first year on the varsity was gained only by hard work and a determined spirit to outplay and outfight his fellows.

The honor of being the tallest member of the team goes to Ken Ramsdell. Because of this, he was the team's highest scorer when he put many a pivot shot through the basket.

Although he didn't play much, Jim Weber, a junior substitute, has the makings of a fine basketball player. He should be of great value next year.

A clever dribbler and skilled player in the fundamentals of the game, Wallis Bruce was a regular player in his junior year. We will look for him again next year.

A faithful manager, John Tygart was always performing his duties to the utmost of his abilities. He is a manager that will be hard to replace next year.

VARSITY AND RESERVE

This was our Big Year. Not only did the Varsity win the city championship, but our future team, the reserves also became champions. Listen to the Varsity record: Libbey started its season with two victories over Kalamazoo, and a 39-38 victory over Central. Then came our first defeat. Bryan whipped us 33-29, but, nothing daunted, the Cowboys went out and beat in rapid succession, Scott, Marietta, Woodward, and Macomber by scores of 32-24, 21-28, 31-28, and 31-22. Our game with DeVilbiss brought our first city set-back by a 41-39 score, and another defeat was handed us by Perrysburg, 37-30. The boys' victory over Waite, 34-22, brought us first place in the city standards, and during the second round, the fighting Cowboys held their position, being defeated in the city only by DeVilbiss. Not satisfied with winning the city title, the South-enders stepped out and won the district championship with 31-28, 21-18, and 27-25 victories over Macomber, Waite, and Central. All during the year the boys exhibited the greatest of spirit; so great a spirit that the student body soon grew to admire the Cowboys and realize that here was a team that was Going Places! So—the Libbeyites stepped behind their team and spurred them on to their many victories. Their send-off to the State Tournament was something to be remembered, and the boys tried their hardest to win down in Columbus, but, after a close game with Xenia all the way, the opponents stepped ahead and won, 47-38. The players and Mr. Orwig are to be congratulated for their exceptional year.

INTRA

Ernie Pietrzkowski, John Kowka, and Don Kwiatkowski try to kick the ball; Bob Cassidy comes running to his team's assistance. June Highwarden helps to keep the ball going for her side, but Joyce Menke and Gertrude Parker are just waiting on the other side of the net to toss it back again. Ruth Snyder pitches a curve to the batter, while Angelina Rudzinski gets ready to make a home run for her team.

Ruth Snyder throws a ringer; Lois Clayton awaits her turn. Gertrude Parker hits a mighty fine one, and Dorothy Crunkilton is afraid it will be a score for the other side. Irene Kowalski, Norma Comnager, and Lois Clayton poised and waiting for the whistle.

Joyce Schloff and Pearl Anderson, who have always been such good friends, are both trying to get a chance to kick the ball at the same time. Don't you girls know that sort of thing doesn't work? Ernie Pietrzkowski and his friend, Bob Cassidy, are getting ready to tee off for some very much needed practice in the grand sport of golf in the great out-of-doors.

Ready to start playing as soon as Marion Corwin kicks the ball, which Velma Langley is holding for her, are Lois Farnsworth, Harriett Brummett, and Edith Broadway. Bob Orth tosses a high one over the net for his team, but Ernie Pietrzkowski and Boris Bangoff are on their toes waiting for a chance to throw it back over again.

MURALS

Just about ready for a strenuous game of badminton: Lois Farnsworth, Dolores Rinehart, Jeanne Knocks, Marion Corwin, Wilma Sperber, and Harriett Brummett. Velma Langley shows Lois Farnsworth that she can really throw that ball back to home.

Robert Orth is just able to reach a high one which Duane Johnson is waiting for on the other side while Gertrude Parker looks on. Ruth Seibold reaches high to try to keep Edith Broadway from getting that toss away in a lively game of ball outdoors. Mrs. Knight looks pleased as she gets ready to start the girls of her gym class in a peppy workout that will keep them all hustling.

The race is really on now as Gordon Voelker passes the stick to his team mate, Tom Watson, and Richard Ganoon passes the stick to his team mate, Duane Dilley. "On your mark! Get set! Go!" —the signal for Duane Dilley, James Haltgrieve, Bob Hawkins, and Tom Watson.

Stan Dec calls the bits while Boris Bangoff waits for a chance to put Duane Johnson, who has made a fine hit, out of the game. Wilma Sperber is off to a running start while Jeannette Bishop stops the ball with which she hopes to put Wilma out of the game for a while.

MRS. DELLA WILLIAMS PAINE

THE FUN OF IT

1—Betty must have just seen somebody special! 2—Why that smug expression, Bill? 3—Senior announcement committee, hard at work. 4—D'ya' suppose Mary will eat all those Zet donuts? 5—That dramatic class! What are they doing now—singing? 6—Meet the Friendship girls, sporting their club dresses. 7—The Banquet committee, harder at work! 8—The efficient library class gathered round as Ruth Greiser checks out a book. 9—Wow! Here's Phyllis Giffin looking glamorous as a debutante. 10—Eleanor Laux busy in the Nurses' office. 11—Mary and Marian think there's nothing like cleaning out a locker to pep one up! 12—We never thought Bette Rae Root was a villaness, but her little toy gun is evidence! 13—That cute dance team—Eileen Blum and Jerry Monetta. No phone numbers given. 14—Doug Taberner and his Jeep. It runs, too! 15—Behind the scenes with the dramatic class.
